

MUSIC OUTSOURCING

Top school administrators all agree - outsourcing is an excellent way for schools to provide students with a high quality music program in financially challenging times.

Thank you bringing this wonderful program to our school. I really appreciate the fine work you and your instructors do with our students. It is such a pleasure to have your program and your talented faculty in our school!

Reveta Bowers, Head of School
The Center for Early Education

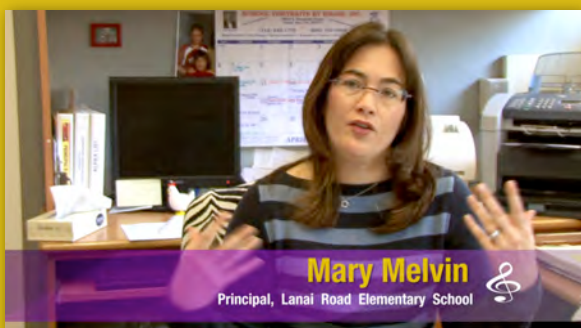

I am so thankful that we are part of your outstanding musical program. The concert was absolutely outstanding. I look forward to another great year and to many more students involved in the music program.

Sister Stella, Head of School
St. Paul the Apostle School

It's all about the numbers.

It's all about the numbers - or so it often seems for schools weathering today's economic uncertainty.

And often the first casualties to budget cuts are music programs.

But it doesn't have to be that way. By outsourcing music instruction, many schools are saving money and resources while still offering students a well-rounded education that includes music.

Children's Music Workshop is the company more Los Angeles area public and private schools turn to for quality, on-site music instruction.

Established in 1993, CMW coordinates music programs in more than two dozen of the top Los Angeles area public and private schools. And CMW teachers are among the finest music educators to be found anywhere in the country.

Find out how your school can use music outsourcing to save money and provide students with the best possible musical education.
